Join the Circle of Knowledge @ Your Library

National Library Week April 13-19

Library use is up nationwide and when you look at the Canton Public Library, it's very easy to see why. With resources like books, magazines, DVDs and computer and wi-fi access, libraries like ours help people find new jobs, do better in school, tackle projects and learn new ways to improve their health.

What makes the library unique is access to trained professionals – librarians – to help people find and interpret the information they need. At the Canton Public Library, you'll always find a librarian ready to help when you stop in, call the Reference Desk or send an email to askcpl@cantonpl.org. Help us celebrate National Library Week with a visit to the library and gain access to a vast circle of knowledge with expert staff to guide your way.

CPL Has a Brand New Bag

You may have noticed that the white plastic bags at the Checkout Desk are gone. We now offer you the option of bringing your own tote bag, reusing donated plastic bags or purchasing one of our stylish new natural cotton canvas bags for $2.

Everyone's Reading 2008

This year's community-wide reading program features The Beekeeper's Apprentice, a mystery novel by Laurie King. See page 3 for programs planned around this title and join in the discussion.

Paper In, Money Out

Most people come to the library with the purpose of borrowing something from us but since the arrival of our Abitibi paper recycling bin, more and more people are coming to give us something: paper. So far, we've collected over 20 tons of paper.

We've collected so many newspapers, catalogs, magazines and office papers that we've had to acquire a second bin. Now there should be plenty of room for people dropping off recycling materials. The payoff is twofold: less waste goes in landfills and the library gets paid for the amount collected. Thanks for your help in keeping our community, and the library, green.

Go Green @ Your Library

Whether you're interested in saving gas, saving money or saving the environment, your Canton Public Library card can help. Use it to check out books instead of purchasing new and use online resources from home or work. Look for the Smart Card to find ways to make your orange Canton Public Library card turn green.

OUR INTERNET BRANCH IS ALWAYS OPEN:

Save a Tree, Listen to a Book.

Are you interested in green living? Want to save some trees? Then join the paperless crowd by listening to an audiobook. Audiobooks come in many formats – audiocassette, CD, MP3, Playaway and downloadable. Pick the format that works for you, then choose from the library's collection of more than 8,500 titles.

Nonfiction titles cover a broad range of disciplines, ranging from Rachael Carson's 1962 classic The Silent Spring, Jared Diamond's Collapse, Al Gore's The Assault on Reason, to Steve Martin's Born Standing Up. Fiction features classics as well as titles by popular authors like James Patterson's latest, 7th Heaven.

Get a Healthy Start on Spring

Make the library part of your wellness routine with regular visits to check out health and fitness materials. New items arrive often. Here are a few of the latest selections; our librarians can suggest even more:

Start Strong, Finish Strong
by Kenneth H. Cooper

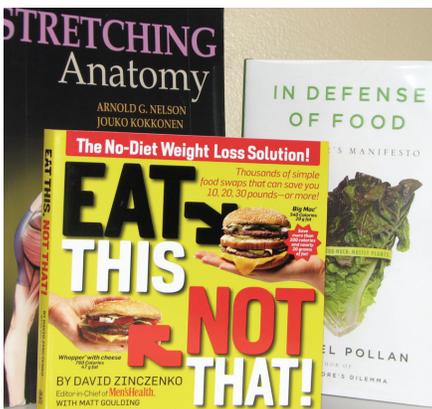

101 Foods That Could Save Your Life
by David W. Grotto

Stop Prediabetes Now
by Jack Challen

Stretching Anatomy
by Arnold G. Nelson

In Defense of Food
by Michael Pollan

Eat This, Not That
by David Zinczenko

Our Online Resources Help You Go Green

Going green, or becoming more environmentally friendly, is one hot topic, especially in Canton. Many residents are looking for resources and information ranging from global warming to recycling to energy saving.

The library recently launched a Green Resources webpage (www.cantonpl.org/resource/green) to help you live a greener life. Check out the Recycle link and learn where you can recycle everything from glass to eyeglasses, medications, clothing and computers. Buy Green offers information on shopping for energy – and earth-saving products. Take Action provides steps you can take to reduce your impact on the environment, like calculating your carbon footprint or cutting back on junk mail. Saving Money, Energy and More and The Environmental Information pages link to many helpful research websites to find more information, including our own Environment

Health and Wellness Answers Online

Find answers to your health questions online through the library's Health and Wellness Resource Center database at www.cantonpl.org/database/#health. This database covers a wide range of everyday health topics including general information on diseases and conditions, alternative medicine, drugs and herbal remedies and links to trusted sites for more information. There's also a health assessment link.

The Health and Wellness Resource Center is easily searchable and written in plain English. You can print or email articles and even watch videos on some topics. This database is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week by going to www.cantonpl.org/database/#health and clicking on Health and Wellness Resource Center.

Recycle @ Your Library

The Canton Public Library is a drop off point for recyclable electronics including cell phones, chargers, MP3 players and printer cartridges. Drop your items in the box at the Reception Desk and we'll take care of them through the Cartridges for Kids program.

Tips For Teens Turning Green

So you're super sly and know all the ways to be green, but you're a little frustrated that other people don't seem to understand, especially your parents. Well, here are a few things you can tell them to win them over: Compact fluorescent light bulbs use about 13 watts rather than 60 watts, they work almost identically to normal light bulbs, and they'll save you money on your energy bill! What else? Plastic bags. Your parents probably go crazy with all the ones they get from the grocery store. Bring them to the library. We'll take them and let people use them to carry home their books. What else? A worm farm...o.k. that's probably not going to win over your parents.... but they're really cool. They eat your trash! The ultimate compost. Well, happy spring, enjoy your new beginnings, and good luck being green.

Teaching Green @ Your Library

Teachers, if you are planning curriculum for the April 22 Earth Day observance, consider these teaching resources: Teaching Green – The High School Years: Hands-On Learning in Grades 9-12. For classroom activities and ideas try www.education-world.com/a_lesson/lesson308.html.

Spring Break

Tweens, do you need something fun to do during Spring Break? Why not try making some crafts out of recycled materials? It's fun, inexpensive and good for the environment! These resources will get you started.

Books:

- Art From Rocks and Shells: With Projects Using Pebbles, Feathers, Flotsam, and Jetsam* by Gillian Chapman
- Crafts From Junk* by Violaine Lamerand
- Crafts From Recyclables: Great Ideas From Throwaways* by Colleen Van Blaircom
- Earth Friendly Crafts for Kids: 50 Awesome Things to Make with Recycled Stuff* by Heather Smith
- Earth-Friendly Outdoor Fun: How to Make Fabulous Games, Gardens, and Other Projects From Reusable Objects* by George Pffner
- EcoCrafts. Gorgeous Gifts* by Rebecca Craig
- Every Day is Earth Day: A Craft Book* by Kathy Ross
- Recycled Crafts Box: Sock Puppets, Cardboard Castles, Bottle Bugs & 37 More Earth-Friendly Projects & Activities You Can Create* by Laura Martin

Celebrate Earth Day All Year Long

Are you a green family? Take a look at these titles, suggested by our Children's Department librarians, and learn how you can make every day Earth Day.

- Trash Action: A Fresh Look at Garbage* by Ann Love and Jane Drake
"Refuse, reduce or reuse" is the motto of this book, which stresses the importance of our choices.
- Waste Not: Time to Recycle* by Rebecca Weber
Simple facts and tips for the very young on recycling.
- Something Old, Something New: Recycling* by Anita Ganeri
Information about waste and 'taking action' ideas for middle elementary aged kids is provided.
- Earth Day: Keeping Our Planet Clean* by Elaine Landau
Discusses the origins of Earth Day and 'seeing green,' its history, action kids can take, and sources for more information.
- Green Alert! (Series)*
A series of books on environmental issues: Our Warming Planet, Polluted Air, Polluted Waters, Spreading Deserts, Threatened Habitats, and Vanishing Forests.

Turning Scrap Into Swag

There are so many great things you can do with bottle caps, milk jugs and old paper. The Teen Place nonfiction collection offers books like Alternacraft by Jessica Vitkus to make your trash into a treasure. Attend our Toilet Roll Bracelet program for ways to repurpose something that is usually thrown away.

Spring is here. Select two gardening, crafts or hobby books and get one free.

Bag Some Big Book Savings

Buy by the bag during the Secondhand Prose Bag Sale weekends and you'll save a bundle. Fill up one of our bags for $5. Bag sales are March 28, 29 and 31 and April 25, 26, 28. Offer does not apply to audiovisual materials or equipment.

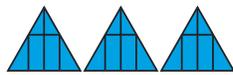

Biking to the Library

Now that the warm weather is here, consider riding your bike to the library instead of driving. It's great exercise and helps the environment. There is a bike rack at the main entrance of the building where you can secure your bikes. Bikes left at the library for more than a few days are taken to the Canton police station.

Want to incorporate a family bike ride into your library trip? Visit www.bikely.com and search "Canton, MI" for a bike route that includes a library visit, picnic and trip to Freedom Park.

Reduce, Reuse, Reread @ Your Library

Don't toss out those books from your personal library. Recycle instead by donating them to Secondhand Prose. You'll get a receipt for tax purposes and someone else will get the chance to read a great book.
